

This Week's Therapy Homework

Purpose

Mindfulness is not about emptying my mind. It is about noticing when my attention has wandered and gently bringing it back to what I am doing.

Exercises

- Chocolate Meditation: slow down and notice the experience of eating.
- Mindfulness of Breath and Body: notice wandering thoughts and return to the breath.
- 3-Minute Breathing Space: use after work, before reading, before bed or when overwhelmed.

Notice This Week

- When did my mind wander?
- What brought it back?
- Did it help me switch off or concentrate?

How This Fits My Goals

Practise while reading, at the allotment, during meals, after 6pm work shut-off and when spending time with family.

Talk About With Kirsty

Which exercise felt easiest? Hardest? What did I notice? The aim is to practise, not to do it perfectly.